Dear Author:

You have been identified as a non-NASA contributor to a scientific publication involving a NASA government employee, contractor, or grantee entitled:

The manuscript is being reviewed through NASA's Scientific and Technical Information Document Availability Authorization (STI/DAA/Form 1676) process. This process reviews and approves scientific and technical information to be released originating from NASA.

Per NASA policy, NASA aims to post and publish scientific manuscripts on the public-facing NASA Technical Reports Server (NTRS). See NPD 2230.1 Research Data and Publication Access.

Because you do not have any formal affiliation with NASA as an employee, grantee, or a contractor, we would like to request a Copyright License from you so that NASA may publicly post the work in compliance with NASA policy. Please review and sign or e-sign (e.g., /s/ John Doe) the Copyright License below, and return it to us as soon as possible. If the copyright to your contribution is owned by a third party by virtue of your employment or contract with that party, please let us know. I can be reached at (650) 604-6928, or by email at rhys.cheung@nasa.gov.

Best regards,
