The Interconnection of the Core and the Network

III. The Interconnection of the Core and the Network

The interconnection of the core and the network involves the coordination and integration of various communication technologies and protocols. This section discusses the methodologies and approaches used to create a seamless and efficient connection between the core network and the peripheral networks. Additionally, it explores the challenges and solutions in achieving optimal performance and reliability in the interconnection process.
REFERENCES

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The authors thank the referees for their helpful comments and suggestions. This research was supported in part by a grant from the National Science Foundation.